A FOCUSED EDUCATIONAL COLLABORATION

Open a door to real-world experience.

The Jewish Mutual is developing partnerships that help young Jewish women explore professions, develop practical skills, and learn directly from people doing the work.

THREE MANAGEABLE WAYS TO BEGIN

01 A professional conversation

A focused 30–45 minute introduction or demonstration, scheduled on mutually agreeable terms.

02 A workplace discovery visit

An illustrative 90-minute experience for 4–6 participants, with an authorized host, clear objectives, and agreed site procedures.

03 An applied design challenge

A bounded educational brief and professional feedback for a small team; no assumption of ongoing mentoring or unpaid commercial labor.

WHY COLLABORATE?

Help make a professional field more understandable to motivated young adults through a defined educational contribution. Your organization chooses an appropriate scope; no long-term partnership or financial sponsorship is required to explore an initial collaboration.

Current status: This is an emerging initiative. Sample experiences in this document are proposals, not confirmed placements or claims of existing corporate partners.

EXAMPLE 01 / CAREER DISCOVERY

Inside an Architecture Studio

Purpose: help participants see the stages, roles, constraints, and practical judgments behind architecture and the built environment.

DURATION	GROUP	HOST
90 min	4–6 people	1 contact

POSSIBLE AGENDA

00–15	Introduce roles and day-to-day work
15–40	Follow a design from brief to models
40–65	Discuss a simple educational scenario
65–90	Career questions and next steps

PARTNER RESPONSIBILITIES

Designate an authorized contact; choose an approved demonstration; secure internal permissions; clarify site access, confidentiality and supervision.

OUR COORDINATION ROLE

Help recruit and prepare suitable participants; set learning questions; coordinate dates and expectations; gather feedback on educational usefulness.

PRE-APPROVAL ESSENTIALS

Any actual visit is contingent on agreed supervision, insurance and liability arrangements, site and confidentiality permissions, access requirements, participant safety, and religiously compatible scheduling.

Illustrative model only. This is not an offer of a currently scheduled program, a confirmed host commitment, or an assurance of workplace access.

EXAMPLE 02 / APPLIED EXPERIENCE

A Practical Design Challenge

A virtual-friendly, three-week learning challenge in which small teams respond to a fictional product-design need: a reusable, compact display system for a community space.

PARTICIPANT DELIVERABLES

Define

Describe users, constraints and success criteria.

Explore

Sketch and compare feasible concepts.

Test

Build a low-risk paper or optional CAD prototype.

Explain

Present design decisions and lessons learned.

WHAT A REVIEWER CONTRIBUTES

One scoped review or demonstration and constructive feedback on feasibility, reasoning and presentation. Participants retain appropriate rights to their original work; any future project terms would be documented and reviewed.

To explore a partnership: use the Partnership Inquiry section of the website when the production site is launched. An introductory conversation is exploratory and does not commit your organization to hosting.

Organizational status: The Jewish Mutual is a working name. Independent 501(c)(3) recognition and fiscal sponsorship are not represented as secured.
